Universal Gaps (apply to ALL modes)

1. No gamepad support (Controller = 1 across the board). Need Gamepad API polling.
2. No screen-shake / hit-flash juice. Canvas games feel flat on impact.
3. No score-popup particles (floating +pts text on scoring actions).

Per-Mode Top Gaps

Tennis (Match Play) & Tiebreak Blitz

- No mobile controls — unplayable on touch devices.
- Court rendering uses flat fill, no net/line detail.

Brain Brawl

- No mobile controls — wheel/quiz is DOM-based but no explicit touch zones.
- No backdrop image (solid dark bg is intentional for readability, but feels less premium).

Who Scene It

- No mobile controls — DOM buttons work on touch but no instruction text.
- Weak onboarding — no explanation of recall mechanic before starting.
- No backdrop, very minimal styling.

Sprint (Beach Sprint)

- Retention loop is thin — tap fast then done. Needs lane-switch mechanic or photo-finish feedback.

Training (Iron Paradise)

- Core loop is sound but exercise transitions are abrupt — no name callout.

Fix Plan (prioritized by impact)

1. Add unified Gamepad API polling to GameShell (bubbles to all modes automatically).
2. Add screen-shake utility ( `shakeCanvas` ) and floating score popups across all canvas games.
3. Add mobile touch controls to Tennis, Brain Brawl, Who Scene It.
4. Add instruction overlay improvements to Who Scene It and Sprint.
5. Polish visual rendering — add hit-flash on scoring, tighten animation easing.

IP Compliance

---

✓ All 20 modes clean. No borrowed assets, names, likenesses, or protected expression found. All art is FEL-original (Meshy-generated backdrops, original canvas rendering, DeepMotion mocap for Dunk). Quiz content in Brain Brawl / Who Scene It uses general-knowledge questions with no copyrighted material.
